JEFFRIES SAW TWO JOHNSONS AFTER BLOW IN HIS EYE

Said to His Seconds "I Strike at One and Miss, Then Other Hits Me".

Fall of Gloom Over Quarters of Former Champion.

CORRIETT SAYS "TOLD YOU SO."

Reino, July 5.—Reino today is suffering from an attack of the "morning after." Jeffries' training camp is under the pad. Roger Corriett and "Farmer" Hanna were up nearly all night attending to him, attended by Mrs. Jeffries. The banquet was called off and instead he partook of a little soup. Jeffries was blinded all night as the result of the blow on his right eye in the second round. It is believed that the eye will be all right this morning.

Jeffries' condition this morning to add any statement, attributing his defeat to the fact that his youth is gone. He feels better toward those who advised him to try to come back.

Corriett is the only member of his camp who takes the "I told you so" attitude, but he called the turn several days ago, declaring that Jeffries' lack of boxing would show. Jeffries probably will go back to his father's farm.

Jeffries in a statement said he will stay in Reno a few weeks and then go to Chicago.

Jeffries at youth may have been a factor in the downfall of Jeffries. There is no denying Johnson showed greater speed and strength and skill, but it was superior fighting qualities that won for him. Jeffries everything he seemed to show when training, from the moment he stepped into the ring. He had absolute nothing.

Why he should have gone to pieces on entering the ring, sports men say was because Jack got Jeff's "goat," some talk of a "lucky punch."

In the second round Johnson put a hand straight to Jeff's right eye. The eye began to swell. The moment a hand Jeff looked dazed to the men in his corner. The answer is simple. The other had been yanked out of his eyes.

"I can see two Johnsons," said Jeffries to Roger Corriett, when the latter was hitting his eye. "I hit at one and miss, and then the other man hit me."

From then on, it is claimed, Jeffries looked merely by instinct. Jeff was now from the start, and couldn't land a punch when he had the chance.

Governor Talks. In a statement to the United Press today Governor Buckner said "Jeffy" had been paid a compliment which he highly appreciated by the Nevada legislature, when he referred to our state as the one remaining in the Union whose citizens still are free. I expect considerable agitation during boxing contests between the two and the carrying of the legislature, but it is well known that the contest was on the level, I don't anticipate any movement to limit the rounds of glove contests."

Jeff is Still Hoped. Representatives of the Morris vanderbilt circuit today telegraphed Corbett, making a flattering offer if he and Jeffries will appear in a boxing stunt on the stage. This is evidence that theatrical people don't believe Jeff has lost his value as an attraction. Corbett turned down the offer. Jeffries is in fair shape today. The swellings are all reduced. The worst is to his lip.

He appears to be still dazed. He says he doesn't remember stepping into the ring or anything about the fight. In fact, his action prior to the fight and immediately after cannot talk that he was "doped," but his handlers deny this. His handlers declare the mental strain caused by hard training upset him. They say he acted like a child. Corbett declares he wondered off the side as he was being led to the ring.

The Champion's Home Coming. Chicago, July 5.—Glorified by two brass bands and the entire colored population of this city, Jack Johnson will make a triumphal entry into Chicago Thursday, drive through the streets in his touring car and alight and tread a carpet of roses as he enters his mother's home. There will be an elaborate feast for the champion.

Mrs. L. E. Ogilvie, wife of Paducah's L. E. Ogilvie, is ill at her home on Jefferson street.

(Special.)—The safe and sane fourth of Metropolis was interrupted last night by two pistol explosions in the colored hall, where an eating-out was in progress, when Scott Clark, a negro, employed on the Burlington construction crew, shot and wounded Clarence Phipps and Ruby Smith, the latter seriously. In the fight between the two, the ball was deflected by a rib and was extracted. Phipps was shot in the right shoulder. Both will recover. Phipps and his assistant had quarreled and the latter advanced on the couple, informing Phipps of his intention to slay him. The fellow then fired twice and escaped.

SCHOOLS MAY SUE CITY TO SETTLE MOOTED QUESTION

Mayor Smith Suggests That Trustees Take it Before Judge Reed.

Share of Taxes is Involved in Issue.

GENERAL COUNCIL MEETING. At the regular meeting of the school board tonight, bids will be opened for the coal contract for next year, and a report made on the possibility of steam apparatus for south side schools.

City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., handed an opinion to Mayor Smith, that the city is not liable to the schools for any amount in excess of the actual amount apportioned to the schools, though more than that may be collected under the levy of 35 cents for school purposes. He found that some years, figuring on this basis, the city overpaid the schools, and in other years it underpaid them. He suggested that when unanticipated revenue is received by the city, to which the schools are morally entitled, the general council should amend the apportionment ordinance during the year. Mayor Smith suggested to the school trustees that they prosecute a friendly suit against the city before Judge Reed in order to settle the question.

The general council will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall in adjourned session from last night. Both boards met last night, but owing to it being a holiday, the meeting was declared off until tonight.

Much important business will come before the two boards tonight, including the semi-annual school license. Saloons, holding licenses, are allowed to remain open until after the council passes upon their applications for renewals. The police have been watching all of the saloons since the first of July to see that those who are going out of business do not remain open.

The ordinance, suggested by former health officer Dr. H. P. Sights, which will require all servants to obtain health permits before being employed will be introduced tonight. It is rumored that the ordinance will not go through.

Goos to Henderson. Mr. J. O. Keebler, former superintendent of the city light plant, left for Henderson this morning. Mr. Keebler will superintend large business interests in that city of the John H. Hodge Tobacco company, in whose employ he has been since leaving the city plant. The work will occupy his time for several months.

The contract for repairing the Lane Oak school building was let to C. M. Ross. The contract price is $30. The contract for the seats for the new county high school at Heath will not be let until the next meeting. Several sample desks have been submitted by representatives of companies.

BALLINGER WON'T RESIGN CABINET POSITION TODAY

Inform Newspapermen That He Has No Intention of "Quitting".

Visits President on Official Business.

INSURGENTS AT OYSTER BAY. Beverly, Mass., July 5.—"I've never been a quitter. I didn't bring any resignations with me, I don't expect to leave at once."

"This was the reply of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, to the question whether he hadn't come to the summer capital to resign his place as a member of the Taft cabinet."

He declared he was here to talk over with the president a reorganization plan for the land office and to reclamation service as the result of new legislation.

Ballinger was in conference with President Taft this afternoon. Although the meeting was announced as being a conference over the issuance of reclamation bonds, it is understood on good authority, that the fate of F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, is to be determined.

Newell and Ballinger are on the "outs."

The secretary arrived early and put in the morning sightseeing around Beverly. He went to the Taft cottage about noon, and had luncheon with the president and were in conference during the greater part of the afternoon.

An open breach has existed between Ballinger and Newell since the former assumed office. Before congressional investigating committee, Ballinger stated that he didn't believe Newell was the man for the place. Letters admitted in evidence tended to show he had offered the job to another man. With the new army board, it is believed Newell's service can be dispensed with without a disruption service. The bureau has been demoralized some time over the feeling that there is to be a general shake up.

President Taft played golf at Noyah this morning. Mr. Taft and daughter Helen were in Beverly.

Polindexter at Oyster Bay. Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 5.—Representative Polindexter, of Washington, one of the most radical insurgents in congress, today in the quest of Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill, with the indication that he would have interesting things to say at the conclusion of his visit. The newspapermen Polindexter declared he would have nothing to say until his return. Then he hoped to have some good news for them. Today is the climax of a series of pilgrimages to Oyster Bay by insurgents.

Roosevelt already has received Senators LaFollette, and Brewster, and Congressman Murdock, and Madison. All came away with predictions that Roosevelt would support the progressive movement. Insurgents believe Polindexter's visit will strengthen the cause.

A Pretty Home Wedding. A pretty home wedding took place last night at 9 o'clock, when Miss Lillie Rolfe and Mr. John Beckelmyer were married at the home of the bride, 1200 Hampton avenue. The ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church. Miss Nannie Mills was the maid of honor, and Mr. Victor I. Knowles the best man. The bride looked charming in a wedding gown of white organza made empire, and carried a shower of bride's roses. She is the daughter of Mrs. J. H. Blackwell and a popular young woman. Mr. Beckelmyer is a potter at the Paducah Pottery company, and a young man highly esteemed. They will reside on Bereheim avenue. The house was prettily decorated for the wedding, with red and white carnations.

C. W. B. M. Meeting. The Christian Woman's Board of Missions of the First Christian church, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. B. Sowell, 1325 Broadway. The subject will be the "Call of the Western States." The following papers will be discussed: "Farmer of the Pacific Coast," Mrs. W. A. Pike; "Possibilities of the West," Dr. D. W. Caldwell; "Problems of the West," Mrs. Dan McFadden. All women of the First Christian church are invited to attend.

Lightning Plays With Yard Crew. Lightning played peculiar pranks yesterday when it struck a truck in the north yards of the Illinois Central railroad. Switchman O. L. Hubbard was standing on top of a box car tightening a brake, when the jolt traveled up the iron and stunned him. He was not injured and was able to resume working. Engineer Lloyd was at the throttle of the switch engine and received a light shock. Several members of the switching crew felt the faint shock distinctly.

Judge Nunn in Paducah. Judge T. J. Nunn, of the appellate court, was in the city today on business. The appellate court has adjourned for the summer, and all of the judges are preparing for their vacations. Judge Nunn with his daughter will leave in a short time for the west.

JIM JEFFRIES COULD NOT "COME BACK"; COMPLETELY KNOCKED OUT BY JACK JOHNSON IN FIFTEEN FURIOUS ROUNDS

HOW THE BATTLE TOOK PLACE BY ROUNDS BEFORE GREAT THROU—DIVISION OF THE PURSE—HEAT WAS INTENSE.

PADUCAHANS THERE.

Two Paducahans saw the fight at Reno yesterday and a third would if he could have traveled the distance in time to occupy the $40 seat, to which he possessed. Leon Blythe and Charles Seamon were the fortunate Paducahans, while the unfortunate was Robert Wathen. Sunday Mr. Wathen received a ticket to a $10 seat from a friend in the west. The ticket was mailed some time ago, but was delayed in the mails and did not arrive until it was too late to start for the ring-side. The arrival of the ticket was a surprise to Mr. Wathen, and a disappointment because it arrived too late.

Reno, Nev., July 5.—Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries in the fifteenth round. Jeffries was counted out as he hung over the ropes, after going down three times. His seconds began crowding into the ring before the timekeeper could count ten.

The fight was a one-sided affair from the start. The negro blocked the old champion's blows at every stage of the game and punished him severely in the last five rounds of the fighting. At the beginning of the thirteenth round the experts at the ringside passed out the verdict that if Jeffries would simply stand and not fight he might stay the limit.

Jeff Gives Up Fight.

As they came up for the fifteenth round Johnson went at his man savagely. He sent Jeffries down the first time with a rain of lefts and rights to the jaw, and Jeffries took the count of eight twice. Each time Jeffries fell outside the lower ropes on the platform.

As Jeffries got up the second time and staggered for Johnson, the latter sprang at him like a tiger and with a left swing to the jaw sent him through the ropes on the east side of the ring, where he lay until the count of ten.

Jeffries was not counted out. As the timekeeper's hand moved up and down the towel was brought into the ring from Jeffries' corner. Whether counted out or not, it probably will be recorded as a knockout.

As Jeffries was helped to his corner he said:

"I am not a good fighter any longer. I could not come back, boys; I could not come back. Ask Johnson if he will give me his gloves."

Johnson Fresh at End.

As Jeffries hung to the ropes after the knockdown, hundreds of his friends rushed to the ropes and cried "Please don't let the old man be knocked out. Stop it." But the timekeeper kept on to the fatal end.

When the count of seven had been reached and it was evident that the white champion had been finished, at least a hundred people broke through the ropes, and Timekeeper Hurling was screamed from the ring by the crowd. The confusion was so great that no announcement from the ring officials was audible.

When Jeffries was led back to his corner by Corbett, Berger and Jack Jeffries, he was still dazed. Johnson stood in the center of the ring and received the congratulations of Billy Delaney and his other seconds. As he talked to Delaney he was breathing absolutely normal. He was not hurt in any way. Sig Hart said to the champion:

"Go over and shake hands with the poor old fellow, Jack."

Stolid in Defeat.

"No, I don't owe him anything now," said Johnson.

Later he went to Jeffries' corner, but Jim Corbett and Jack O'Brien waved him away. When he returned to his own corner the crowd in the ring was so dense that the police had to beat them back. The first man to congratulate him in his corner was John L. Sullivan.

Jeffries was attended by his physician as he sat in his corner. He sat shaking his head sadly for a few minutes and then was led to his dressing-room. Soon afterward he was taken to his camp at Mouna Springs.

As soon as the men left the ring the crowd began the destruction of the ring. The ropes were cut into bits, the canvas ripped up and stuffed into small pieces and even the staples that held the canvas were unscrewed and taken as souvenirs.

The gates were opened at 12 o'clock sharp. Thousands were there, the majority being formed in this serpentine columns that stretched through all parts of the grounds. As the gates swung aside there was a great rush for the turnstiles, and the surging crowds poured rapidly into the inclosure.

In less than fifteen minutes the gallery seats and the wide platform skirting the topmost outer rim of the arena was half filled. Coming in from the cool, wind-swept spaces of the flat country surrounding the battle grounds, a startling change of temperature was noted in the arena. The bare pine boards generated a terrific heat from the scorching sun, and the early comers immediately proceeded to shed their coats and collars. Thirty feet from the ring-side, and due west, where the sun would not interfere, a battery of nine motion picture machines, superimposed in rows of three above one another, was being manned and made ready for the work of the afternoon.

Heat Was Terrible.

The heat beat down on the crowd out of a perfectly clear sky and was almost unbearable.

At 2 p. m. it seemed that every seat in the arena was occupied and the six-foot platform that extended around the upper line was black with a human fringe of humanity.

Fight by Rounds.

First Round.—Johnson roared around and feinted. Johnson clinched and stepped back. Jeff feinted again with left. Johnson worked Jeff until the sun was in his face and stabbed him lightly in the mouth with the left. They clinched at the ropes. Johnson pushed Jeff back and showed much strength as he did so. Jeff swung his left upon the body and the clinched. The crowd cheered Jeff for getting in the first blow. Jeff forced his left and put in a couple of lefts upon the body. Johnson got in a left upon the face and Jim got in a hard left upon the face while breaking. Cheers for Jeff. Jeff ducked a left and clinched. Johnson pushed Jeff's left forearm so that Jim could not use it. They clinched at the bell.

Second Round.—Jeff crouched and stood with his left well forward. He tried left for face, missed and laughed. Johnson feinted and jumped away. Johnson got in a straight left on mouth and they clinched. Their arms became entwined. Johnson tilted Jeff's head with right uppercut and clinched while they were hanging together. Jeff tried for neck. He missed at first and they clinched. Jeff poked several lefts to the body. First blood for Jeff on Johnson's mouth. In the clinch Johnson heeled Jeff's head with a right uppercut, which grazed his face. Johnson pushed Jeff's left back which was in a hammerlock clinch. Jeff ducked a left uppercut and went into a clinch. They swung around. Johnson getting in a light left uppercut. They parted from a clinch just before the bell.

Third Round.—Jeff still posed with a crouch and they kidded one another. Johnson drew back with a left. Jeff blocked and they clinched again. Johnson still kept pushing Jeff's forearm away so that the big fellow could not use them. Johnson got in a right right uppercut in the clinch and Jim rapped him on the jaw with the right. They hung together quite a while before clinching. Jeff got to the body with the right, and they clinched. Jeff swung a hard right on the body, and they clinched again. Jeff blocked a left but Johnson sent another through clean on the mouth. It was a light blow. They clinched on the ropes, and Johnson sent a sharp right uppercut. Johnson tried another uppercut and missed again. Johnson blocked one of Jeff's high swings, and they were in a clinch at the bell.

Fourth Round.—Johnson seemed more confident as he came out. Johnson swung for the head, but missed. Johnson caught Jeff above the ear with a left hook. They clinched and Johnson laughed at Jeff. Jeff swung in his left on the body and in the clinch that followed Johnson got in two uppercuts. Jeff shot a right into Johnson's mouth, and then the same fist in the mid of his belly. There was blood on Johnson's lips. They rushed into a clinch and fought while they held together. Jeff got in a right on body and on the mouth. Johnson poked up a left uppercut several times but never hurt. They held quite a while, and the crowd yelled for them to fight. Johnson shot in a straight left on the mouth and Jeff closed in and dug three lefts into Johnson's stomach. Johnson got home with three uppercuts in succession, lifting Jeff's chin in the air each time. Johnson tried a short right for jaw which reached Jeff as the latter was ducking and the blow did not hurt. The question of strength between two men was equal.

Fifth Round.—Jeff crouched as he came forward. He struck away from a straight left again when Johnson went through the motions of feinting. They feinted into a clinch, no blows being struck. Johnson landed above the hip with a left and they clinched. Jeff poked the body with left at close range twice in the fight with the left. There was a slight smear of blood on his lips. Johnson met Jeff with a straight right and Jeff drove a solid looking right into the body. They hung together. Johnson poked the left into face. Johnson shot in a straight left and right to the face. A short shot on the face from Jeff brought more blood. Jeff crouched and went in an overhand left, which sent Johnson's head back. It was a clean punch and the crowd cheered. They patted each other on the back with the bell finding them in a clinch.

Sixth Round.—Jeff crouched again, then straightened. Johnson drove Jeff to the ropes, putting three lefts to the face without landing clearly with any of them. They clinched. Johnson hooked Jeff with the left in the face in a clinch. The skin was scraped on Jeff's left cheek and the blood showed. Johnson's left went around Jeff's neck, and they clinched. Jeff blocked a left and right and drove his right against the ribs. Johnson appeared Jeff with the left and Jeff placed both gloves on the body with good force and they clinched. Johnson forced his left arm and uppercut Jeff with left, almost closing Jeff's right eye. Then Johnson worked the right uppercut, reaching the face. Jeff rubbed his swollen eye as he went to his corner.

Seventh Round.—Johnson stepped in with left hooks. Jeff blocked two of them and they clinched. Johnson began feinting rapidly and Jeff circled around. They sparred a great while without either man landing. Finally Johnson tried with a right to the jaw and they clinched, and Jeff clinched, and Jeff rained his left into the body. Jeff landed a left in Johnson's face and Johnson laughed. They clinched and Johnson poked a left into Jeff's face bringing blood from one of Jeff's nostrils. Johnson freed his left and hooked Jeff several times in the face. The negro also put in one right uppercut, and at this stage Jeff was certainly getting the worst of it. Jeff sent in one high left which landed on Johnson's chin. In a clinch Johnson kept freeing his left and got in on Jeff's head.

Eighth Round.—Jeff went to close quarters quickly and clinched. Johnson used a left on the face. Jeff seemed unable to escape punishment. Johnson shot in a double left on the jaw and both landed. Johnson began feeling Corbett in Jeff's corner, asking him how he liked the looks of things. Corbett replied that he who laughs last laughs best. Jeff got to the ribs with a smother, and in the clinch following Johnson poked a left to the face and a right on the body. It was a long drawn clinch and Johnson used his right across the back. They were in a clinch at the bell.

NOW YOU CAN SLEEP

Those who find it necessary to get up several times during the night, losing a sleep on account of bladder weakness or out of order kidneys will find that a few doses of the new Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will correct the trouble very quickly, relieve the bladder in a few hours and restore healthy, normal kidney and bladder action.

Druggists say this new medicine is already outstripping any similar preparation, which seems a good recommendation. A prominent downtown druggist, speaking of the Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, said there is much satisfaction in handling such a medicine, for every one seems pleased with it. An offer to refund the money to any one who is not benefited by it, has been made by Gilbert's Drug Store.

the face, and Jeff laughed as though he enjoyed it. Johnson put in a right uppercut and as they clinched Jeff whaled into the body with a hard right. They clinched again and Jeff got to the body with both hands. In the clinch Johnson freed his right and left and right in turn and gave Jeff sunning blows in the face. The negro was certainly the master at clinch fighting. Jeff bled freely from mouth and nose from punches at close quarters. Jeff got in on body with left. As they closed in Johnson yanked each arm free in turn and smashed Jeff in the face. Johnson put in a swinging right uppercut and Jeff got in two rights and lefts on the body just before the bell.

Twelfth Round.—Jeff ducked well under a left swing and clinched. They pushed around and Johnson was meddling and grinning at someone in the crowd. They broke. Jeff tried a high left and missed and Johnson missed a right on the jaw. At outfighting both men used clever defense, but in the clinches Johnson punched Jeff's face repeatedly with the left. Jeff's swollen right eye became bigger and bigger from the effects of the jolting punches, and blood came from his mouth and nose. Johnson's blocking when out-fighting was particularly effective. Johnson got in a straight left on the mouth and Jeff came back with the straight left on the stomach. Johnson grazed Jeff's chin with a right and missed with another right.

Thirteenth Round.—There was nothing about Jeff's legs to suggest he was tired, though his face had a rather discouraging appearance. Johnson landed light left hook on Jim's face and they clinched. Johnson hooked the face with the left in the clinch that followed. Jeff freed his left and got to the face three times. Then he used the right the same way. He appeared with the left again as Jim seemed to have no way of saving himself from those fearful lefts poked at close quarters. Jeff tried to initiate Johnson's uppercut and failed. Then Johnson, while they were heading together, yanked left and right loose in turn and rapped Jeff again and again. He pushed Jeff against the ropes and caught him with lefts and rights. Jeff clinched again. Jeff punched Johnson into a corner and used both hands on the face. Jeff's face was swollen and covered with blood. Johnson eyed him closely in the clinch. When they broke Johnson let go with the right for the jaw. He did this three times and reached the mouth. It looked bad for Jeff as he went to his corner.

Fourteenth Round.—Jeff's head hung low as he sat in his corner. They clinched. They parried quickly. Johnson poked in a straight left. Johnson tried another straight left and upswing with success, and they clinched. Jeff swung a left to the cheek. Johnson feinted rapidly and got home with two straight lefts. Johnson looked as he felt to be the master of the situation. He was confident now. Jeff put in a high left on the mouth, and in the clinch that followed Johnson jolted him in the mouth with the left. Jeff was unable to protect himself from this blow, of which he received several. The blows did not seem to distress when Jeff lowered his head. While clinching and shoving his left against the body three times, Johnson came back with a straight left on the face and a hook on the chin. They clinched again. Johnson's left was swollen out of Jeff's face. Johnson yelled at Corbett: "He's too clever, like son."

Fifteenth Round.—There were no bright faces in Jeff's corner and it certainly looked as though the big fellow was fading away. Jeff came out with his guard held him and blocked a straight left, and they clinched near the ropes. As they broke away Johnson sent a left on the chin and Jeff went against the ropes. He arose slowly and Johnson knocked him through the ropes with another left swing. As a matter of fact Jeff was knocked out this time, as the count of ten elapsed before he was pulled to his feet and into the ring. Jeff spat and reeled around the ring with Johnson after him. Johnson struck him with the left and right, both times in the face. Jeff fell again but arose to his feet slowly, but was counted out meanwhile, and Sam Berger jumped into the ring with the evident intention of acknowledging defeat in case the knockout had not been complete.

Vincennes, Ind., July 5.—Heavy rain prevented the double header scheduled between Vincennes and Paducah yesterday. As a result of the rest all of the pitchers are in first-class trim.

Hoopers Get Both.

AMERICAN

NEW CROP NOW BECOMES FACTOR

WINTER WHEAT ON ROAD TO MARKET CENTERS.

Professional Crop-Killer is Making Much Noise—Prices Above the Export Basis.

GOOD RAINS HELP THE CROP

Chicago, July 5.—Although the northwest has not had a good general wetting down during the past week, light rains have fallen in a goodly portion of the spring wheat country and the situation there at the end of the week was considered better. It is not denied that considerable damage has been done, but it is now the opinion of the trade that just a few spots have been injured and this only in exposed places on poor soil or poorly tilled land. Fortunately, the above situation is by no means general, despite the noise that the professional crop-killer has been making, and it may turn out as in Kansas and Nebraska—that the rains will make a very fair crop after all.

The crop experts who are in the fields have sent in some gloomy reports, but, say the conservatives in the trade, no matter how reliable and valuable the crop expert's testimony may be, he cannot see it all and the reports that are forwarded occasionally usually refer to limited localities or sections. Thus far the most reliable of the claims are for a loss of 50,000,000 bushels from the previous outlook for the northwest, or a crop deducting this from the June 1 estimated yield of 726,000,000 bushels would mean a total of 676,000,000 bushels of winter and spring wheat.

Prices Above Export Basis.

It will be seen from the above, taken in connection with the fact that prices are far above an export basis, that current values are unhealthy and unnatural. Whether they will be maintained or even advanced still further by speculative forces or excitement remains to be seen. Conservative interests are, however, sounding a note of warning against any course that will dam up or reverse the natural channels of trade, and it is a matter of record that such a course has usually brought a penalty.

Meanwhile the movement of new crop winter wheat has already begun in a moderate way in the southwest and, as harvest extends further north, the movement can be expected to increase. In view of the fact that the domestic milling demand is limited, it is perhaps fortunate that the crop losses of the northwest have induced sales by producers southwest.

Another effect of the crop losses in America has been to cause a little hardening of prices in Europe. The latter, however, has been influenced thus far, and unless there are also some very important crop losses abroad it is not likely that American values will interest the trade abroad.

Wheat Makes Good Gains.

Wheat made good gains in prices on Monday when hot weather and the lack of rain northwest and unfavorable crop and weather advices from the Canadian northwest, supported by higher markets in that section, dominated values here. Ad-

ITCHED ALL SUMMER.

Skin Troubles Cause Great Aggrevation in Hot Weather—Frequently a skin trouble appearing in the spring and allowed to remain unchecked will afford cause for intense itching all summer long. When poslam, the new skin remedy, is first applied all itching is stopped, inflammation is allayed, the burning skin is cooled and comforted.

For the prompt relief and cure of the many forms of eczema, news, tetter, barber's itch and all other skin troubles poslam has proved the most efficient healing agent yet evolved. In the lesser affections, such as pimples, red noses, complexion blemishes, rash, scalp trouble, itching feet, etc., results are seen overnight, but a small quantity being required. (Nothing is so good for sunburn and mosquito bites).

A special 50-cent package of poslam is prepared for minor uses, and this, as well as the regular $2 jar, is on sale by all druggists, particularly Gilbert's drug store and H. W. Walker Co. But no one is asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining a sample package, which will be sent by mail, free of charge, upon request by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th street, New York City.

Prices Keep Soaring.

Prices kept on soaring on Tuesday, speculative attention being riveted to the wheat fields of the northwest. All other sections were ignored. There was very little news in the realm of crop damage claims that poured in, but there was no lack of volume. Strangely enough, the news was as effective in exciting the trade as before, and prices made new high points for the present advance. There was enough new speculative and investment buying, as well as covering by distressed shorts, to absorb an enormous quantity of wheat. Although there was plenty on sale at each sharp advance, each one of the latter went further than the one before. It was notable, however, that the recessions were more sudden and severe as the day advanced. There was a great deal of eastern selling of long wheat in this market which had been taken the previous week or since, after the stock market began to weaken on crop damage claims. Foreigners also were selling more or less wheat here.

Profits Weaken Considerably.

On Wednesday the bulls began to take some of their profits and the market was weakened considerably. A higher start was in sympathy with the Minneapolis market. The strength there was brief, as it was met by heavy and influential selling. Not only was the early northwest advance wiped out, but a decline was substituted in the active trading profits on a rising market during the three or four days previous were increasing their sales, and miscellaneous buyers finally caught the temper of the trade and unloaded. There was a great deal of vigorous short selling, but it was confined to a few local speculators. Less hysteria and more disposition in deliberately weigh in the legitimate influences affecting wheat were seen in Wednesday's market. The trade assumed that the big advance in prices in the last two weeks had not only discounted the damage, but had carried the markets out of line with the southwest. The latter was feeling the weight of offerings of old and new wheat, with every prospect that the pressure of both would increase later.

Rails Weaken Wheat.

On Thursday rains in North Dakota further weakened wheat, and the Kansas crop report showing a condition nine points higher than was given by the government report, helped the decline along. On Friday, however, there was another change in sentiment, the heavy selling of the two previous days having put the trade in an overbearish position. Excellent buying was in evidence, and much of the decline of Wednesday and Thursday was recovered. July wheat at the end of the week was 1 1/2 cent lower, September 1/4 cent lower and December lost 1/2 cent.

Good rains, covering a greater part of the corn belt, along with free offerings of cash and futures by the country, precipitated a great deal of speculative selling in that market last week. Quite a number of traders who had a chance to view the corn fields were very bearish in their ideas. "In some cases the corn was reported to have doubled in height during the last week. July corn declined 1 1/2 cents for the week, September was 1/2 cent lower, and December lost 1/2 cent. Oats values were weakened by about the same influences as prevailed in corn. Regarded rains prevailed over all the leading producing states, and crop experts brought in better reports regarding the crop than had been heard here during the previous week. Oats declined 1 1/2 cents all along the line. Despite efforts on the part of large packing interests to hold the provision flat up by buying July pork, the market took on a very heavy tone and ranged slightly lower. Too many hogs at western packing centers and lack of speculative demand here or elsewhere made scattering liquidation sales very effective.

OHIO VALLEY SOUTHERN WELCOMES INDUSTRIES

Preparations Under Way For a Comprehensive Industrial Exposition at Cincinnati, Ohio, This Fall.

Cincinnati, O., (Special).—With almost magic rapidity the buildings which will house the greater portion of the Ohio Valley Exposition, to be held in Cincinnati from Aug. 29 to Sept. 24, are springing up. Two weeks ago the banks of the Miami and Erie canal, where all the temporary structures of the Exposition will be located, was bare of anything that suggested architectural or structural enterprise. Today there are half a dozen buildings rearing their rafters skyward, while the music of half a thousand hammers and saws, in the hands of skilled artisans, attest to the haste and bustle which is being indulged in, that the exhibits and amusement features of this gigantic industrial enterprise may be properly taken care of when the time comes for their installation.

It will require at least twelve buildings of huge dimensions to take care of the various features that will be offered at the Exposition, this summary not including the magnificent Music Hall and its two mammoth wings, all of which will be devoted to the purposes of the Exposition. The temporary buildings will be in the rear of Music Hall and will extend from Fifteenth street southward as far as the elbow of the canal at the head of Plum street, and eastward to Elm street, the entire stretch of buildings being considerable over half a mile in length, and occupying both banks of the canal. Floral deck promenades will be arranged on

Efforts to Re-Establish Commercial Relations Between Ohio Valley and South Promise Success.

South, while at the same time the South was ignoring the proximity of Ohio Valley manufacturers and seeking various classes of merchandise in other sections. As the natural gateway between the Ohio Valley and the South, Cincinnati felt it was incumbent upon her to bring these sections together in a closer trade relationship; and so the Ohio Valley Exposition was born.

Unique Exhibition. In many respects this Exposition will be unique in the annals of industrial exhibitions. The setting aside of 21,000 square feet of space for a Southern exhibit alone—an exhibit now being assembled by more than thirty Southern railroads and designed to show the best products and resources of the South, irrespective of the section in which they are produced—is an unusual proceeding, and speaks greatly for the liberality of the Exposition management, while at the same time it gives the South a rare opportunity to bring to this market examples of all her best industrial and natural products.

Particular attention is being given to the assembling of "live" or working exhibits in the various departments. These exhibits will consist of working models of various industries, showing how different commodities are produced instead of offering the old, hackneyed exhibits of finished products only. No industry known to the Ohio Valley or the South will be missing from this display, which will Fashions change in warships as in everything else. The "Indiana," pictured above, was the latest thing in battleships during the Spanish-American war. Today she is almost passe. either side of the canal, with the exhibition and amusement buildings opening off this long stretch of beautiful walks. At night these walks will be brilliantly illuminated, converting the canal into a shimmering avenue, upon which fully decorated barges and motor boats, bearing modern troubadours, will glide gracefully, giving this portion of the Exposition a decided carnival aspect.

In planning this Exposition, the business men of Cincinnati took into consideration the rather limited trade relations now existing between the Ohio Valley and the South. They felt that the commercial friendship should be more intense than it is at present—that the Ohio Valley was going to distant markets for commodities which her nearest neighbor, the South, was producing at her very be further enhanced by the addition of a number of exhibits from sections outside of the territory that is supposed to cover the scope of the show. A most attractive feature of the Exposition will be the Government display, Uncle Sam having placed at the disposal of the Exposition all the treasures of his various departments, so that the best collections of the War, Navy, Postoffice, Treasury, Agricultural, Interior and Labor and Commerce departments will be shown. Models of war vessels, money coining machinery and a series of moving pictures, illustrating the workings of the various departments, will be among the special Government exhibit features.

Alluring Amusement Features. The amusement features will include a new popular romantic opera, written especially for the Exposition, and employing more than three hundred people, including some of the leading grand opera stars of the country, with every one in the cast an American; a fire-lighting spectacle, reproducing the historic destruction of the Hohokam docks; a midnight circus; hippodrome, hand concerts and many others.

Invitations have been accepted by President Taft, ex-President Roosevelt, the governors of all the Ohio Valley states, and other notables, to spend some time at the Exposition. The raising of a guarantee fund of $500,000 by the citizens of Cincinnati is ample proof that the Exposition will be properly financed.

Just That.

MINIATURE ARMADA TO BE EXHIBITED

Models of All Types of Warships at Ohio Valley Exposition.

Cincinnati, O., (Special).—What probably will be the most extensive miniature armada ever assembled outside of the Navy Department at Washington, will be shown at the Ohio Valley Exposition, to be held at Cincinnati Aug. 29 to Sept. 24. By arrangement with the United States Navy Department, the most comprehensive display of models of naval vessels ever shown at an exposition will be brought to Cincinnati. The list includes models of practically every type of war vessel now in commission in the navy, as well as several that have made history in the past, to say nothing of a display of the ammunition used in the various sizes of guns aboard the modern vessels. The "boxed navy" which will be shown at the Exposition includes models of the following vessels: Battleship "Maine," the old "Maine," blown up in Havana harbor; the torpedo boat "Schrader," torpedo-boat destroyer "Decatur," battleship "Virginia," submarine boat "Holland," battleship "South Carolina," floating drydock "Dewey," cruiser "Hirpingham," battleship "Tennessee," reproduction by model of the review of the United States Atlantic fleet by the President in Long Island Sound, Sept. 3, 1906, together with many photographs and paintings of famous vessels of the past, and other historical relics in the possession of the Navy Department. It is expected that this exhibition will be one of the most interesting of the entire government display, which, in its entirety, will be the most complete ever assembled.

Foley's Kidney Pills Have Cured Me

The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. M. Winkler, of Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and pained me. I took Foley's Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. Foley's Kidney Pills have cured me." Gilbert's drug store.

CROP AND MONEY SITUATION.

New York, July 5, (Special.)—We have just passed through another period of drastic liquidation. Many stocks have touched their lowest point since the recession first commenced, and are now 15 to 40 points below the high level of the year. The latest cause for renewed weakness was the decision of the Interstate commerce commission that some of the Pacific roads had been charging exorbitant rates on portions of traffic near the Pacific coast. This action was at once interpreted as an evidence of continued hostility on the part of the government towards the railroads. Perhaps such interpretation was not entirely warranted, but its effect upon the stock market was distinctly injurious. There is no denying the fact that our financial leaders are more or less nagged over the continued attacks upon corporations in the legislature and by the government. That there have been abuses which required reform is generally conceded, but the question of how to proceed from the legislature and the government during the next six months is proving decidedly detrimental to the interests of investors. It may be good politics to strike the railroads and big corporations at every opportunity, particularly as some of the reforms insisted upon are necessary; nevertheless the repeated shocks to confidence which these developments provoke ought, if possible, to be avoided. Foreign investors are already becoming particularly sensitive to the attacks upon corporations which, if continued, will not only seriously injure our pocket abroad, but force an unwelcome return on our securities.

Liquidation.

Unfortunately these shocks have come at a time when confidence has been undermined by other considerations. Liquidation has not been confined to stocks. It has extended to many of the commodity markets, and is finally being felt in land speculation, which in some parts of the country has been vastly overdone. It is now generally recognized that a business reaction is fairly under way. Economy and retrenchment is the order of the day, and the spirit of conservatism which prevails everywhere is in striking contrast with the feeling of optimism which marked the opening of the current year. Our bankers have been more or less apprehensive regarding the western situation, where a spell of unusual prosperity had removed all checks upon extravagance and reckless speculation. It is known that many of the western financial institutions, national banks excluded, were committed to extensive land operations, and that the over-extension of credit thus produced will weigh the interest banks to depend much more heavily than usual upon New York to finance the coming crops. In all probability this danger has been so fully realized that when the time of anticipated stringency arrives it will be found to have been largely discounted. Nevertheless, there still remains some uneasiness regarding the western banking situation, which has been further complicated by an unfavorable news regarding the crop of spring wheat. These latter reports have undoubtedly been utilized to their full value. Conceding that some injury has happened in the spring wheat region, this is really only a local affair, since the promise is for a larger yield of winter wheat, and the total wheat crop promises to be about an average one. There is still time for improvement for the remainder of the spring wheat crop. According to the most reliable reports the outlook is for a big crop which will more than compensate for any possible loss in wheat. Corn is of much more importance to the railroads, inasmuch as it not only provides much freight, but is the most important element in the preparation of cattle and hogs for market. The cotton crop is in fair condition, and according to the government report there is good chance for a full yield. The hay crop also promises to be large. As a whole the crop situation is fairly satisfactory. The big yields which were much to be desired are not forthcoming, but on the other hand, there are as yet no indications of serious or damaging deficiency.

Money.

As to the money situation that promises to largely correct itself. Funds are already accumulating, call money being especially abundant because banks are keeping their funds where they will be most readily available. The possibilities of stringency in the crop season have been materially lessened by recent liquidation. Business is dull and requirements on this account are correspondingly reduced. There is little speculation now in progress, and the fact that values of both stocks and commodities are on a considerably lower plane lessens the working capacity of the money supply, and also tends to lessen the probability of stringency.

Whether the present decline will make any further progress or not is difficult to forecast. In any event some sharp recoveries are about due. There has been a decided increase in the strength of the bear party, and a short interest of considerable importance still exists, and would prove an element of strength in event of further recession. Whatever unfavorable news may come to the surface during the next few weeks must have been largely discounted. Political disquiet; attacks on corporations; trade reaction; speculative liquidation; crop disasters and threatened stringency in money would all seem to have been fully anticipated by the decline of 15 to 40 points, which, as said above, has taken place during the past six months. Many stocks are now selling upon a very attractive investment basis, especially in view of the low rates for money. From now on stocks are likely to pass from weak into strong hands, and investment purchases of high grade securities made at the current level, will later on unquestionably yield handsome returns. Speculative operations, however, will have to be conducted with extreme caution. Prices may undergo sharp rallies, but the powers in control of the market do not yet appear to be working in concert for a higher level, and until bull leadership becomes more pronounced, we can hardly look for a positive recovery.

Minutegannas.

A hard name to pronounce, called locally "Minutegannas." This is a picturesque summer resort on one of the largest islands of the Georgian Bay, only 3 1/2 hours run by the Grand Trunk railway system from the city of Toronto, Canada, and beautifully situated among the 30,000 islands of that territory. Splendid hotel accommodation, good fishing, fine boating and not far from Bass, trout, pickerel and pike abound. For illustrated descriptive matter and all information, write to H. G. Pork is called by a doctor an excellent cosmetic. It is guaranteed to provide the complexion of a newly-opened blush rose. If you can't get pork, you are urged to eat bacon. The reason is this: Usually, when the skin is dry, it is deficient in oil, and cosmetics are employed to retort on it. Pork is regarded as supplying oil.

'MARGIE' DEFENDS HERSELF TO DEATH

DRIVES KNIFE BLADE INTO ROSIE'S HEART.

Bleedy Ending of Fourth of July Celebration on the North Side.

OTHER HAD BUTCHER KNIFE.

Another love affair, this time with "a man in the case," came to a tragic end at 7 o'clock last night in Rowlandtown when Marjorie Hines, colored, alias "Black Margie," stabbed her rival, Rosa Stevenson, colored, to death. The girl died instantly, the blade of a rusty barlow knife finding its way into her heart. Marjorie surrendered at police headquarters three hours later and was locked up in the county jail on a charge of willful murder. Her exhuming trial in police court was set for Thursday morning.

From the best statements obtainable Rosa had threatened Margie for stealing her lover, "Kid" Turley, a colored barber. At Baruka park, Rowlandtown, late yesterday afternoon, Rosa is said to have discovered her bitter enemy, Margie. She told deputy Sheriff Charles Clark, who was on duty at the park, that she was going to "beat up" Margie and he warned her not to start any trouble at the park. She replied that she wouldn't raise a disturbance there, but would catch Margie elsewhere.

In the meantime Rosa is said to have procured a long and sharp bladed butcher knife and stood in wait for Margie, who received a tip that she was about to be assassinated and left the park in company with a girl friend. As the story goes Margie and her friend left the park and were in the act of boarding a street car at the terminal of the track when Rosa rushed upon her and pulled her back. Another story is that Rosa made an "insulting" remark about Margie's plunk history, and when Margie turned around to see who was responsible for the insult, Rosa rushed upon her with a drawn knife. Creal Broyles, who was standing a short distance off, is said to have grabbed Rosa and wrested the knife from her hands. Rosa made a dash for the sidewalk, grabbed up a brick and threw it at Margie at 60 yards power speed. Margie received the brick under the right eye and groined, before Rosa had time to see whether Margie was knocked out. Margie came up like a panther, then, seizing a
